PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT EVENT

Event Facilitator: Janice Estabrook, Gifted Education and Enrichment Coordinator, Instructional Services

Gifted Education Workshop: Standards-Linked Curriculum and Instruction for Gifted and High-Potential Learners

Online Category: Gifted

Date:	Tuesday, March 6, 2012 (Weather-Related Cancellation Day - April 4, 2012)
Time:	Registration: 8:30 am Workshop: 9:00 am – 3:00 pm
Location:	The Conference & Training Center at IU 13, 1020 New Holland Avenue, Lancaster, PA 17601
Presenter:	Linda Block-Love is an educational consultant and highly regarded presenter on various topics relating to educating the gifted, curriculum design, instructional practices, and differentiated instruction. Her experience with gifted students K-12, combined with her interest in results-focused approaches, enables her to give workshop participants both the background and practical suggestions necessary to implement short and long-term programming improvements.
Description:	Influenced by Chapter 16 regulations, due process decisions, and best practice considerations, many school districts are meeting the needs of gifted students through greater rigor and depth within the context of the course curriculum and the standards they address. This emphasis and the requirement to ensure that student needs are met within regular education classrooms impacts, not only the design of the GIEP, but also the manner in which GIEPs are executed in the classroom setting. This program will examine approaches to addressing both of these vital components. Topics to be discussed include the use of standards to craft Annual Goals, the Rigor/Relevance Framework, Problem/Inquiry-based Learning, and balancing standards-based approaches with separate enrichment units.
Target Audience:	Gifted Education Teachers, Regular Education Teachers, Supervisors of Gifted Programming
Limit:	35 Participants (NOTE: A minimum of 18 participants is needed for the workshop to run)
Cost:	$90 for IU 13 Gifted Network Members (2011-2012), $100 for IU 13 Districts, $125 for Districts outside IU 13. Lunch will be included.
