

College Search & Prep: It's Never Too Soon!

Tuesday, February 14, 2012

Seminar Time: 9:00 AM – 2:00 PM

Location: The Conference & Training Center at IU 13

Presenter: Rachel Kiehl & Carolyn Hoy

Description: College might seem like light years away, but it will be here before you know it! So what do you need to know now so that you are prepared when it comes time to begin your applications? This interactive presentation, designed for the gifted 9th and 10th grade student, will show you how to navigate the process of college searching!

During the morning session, we will discuss how to research colleges which might be a good fit for your personality, interests, and learning style. You will also learn about high school course planning, college admissions testing, and how a private college can end up costing as little as a public college.

Then in the afternoon, we will look at the college application essay. This is an important part of a college application which lets the admissions people understand more about you by reading what's NOT apparent on your transcript, SAT scores, and grade reports. By looking at the Common Application essay prompts, we'll examine this crucial part of the process. By thinking of strategies and possible topics, you can get a head start on your college essay. It's not too early to be thinking about what to write!

Shakespeare On Your Feet

Friday, February 24, 2012

Seminar Time: 9:00 AM – 2:00 PM

Location: Millersville University

Presenter: Laura Howell

Description: There is no need to fear William Shakespeare after you participate in this workshop. After all, Shakespeare was a playwright (and an actor, too!) who wrote plays that were meant to be played to audiences with players performing in a playhouse. In case you missed the message, we will play with Shakespeare. We will break the myth that Shakespeare is only for the elite intellectuals as we breathe life into his texts and characters and discover the poetry and deep humanity of his words as actors still do today. Students will also be able to see the set for The Children's Hour at the Millersville University Theatre.

Creative Expression Explored: Kevin Lehman's Pottery and Lancaster Creative Factory

Monday, March 26, 2012

Seminar Time: 9:00 AM – 2:00 PM

Location: Kevin Lehman's Pottery (and Multi-Media) Studio, Lancaster

Presenters: Kevin Lehman and Studio Artists

Description: Artistic expression is a dynamic avenue for fostering and showcasing creativity. Artistic talent can be explored and developed in a variety of ways. This seminar will offer students an opportunity to see how Garden Spot High School graduate, Kevin Lehman, has used his passion for art to create a multi-media community center. SEE seminar participants will create with clay; decorate redware pottery with various techniques; and watch a demonstration of the highly specialized art form of glassblowing. After a short tour of the studio, students will be divided into 3 smaller groups. One group will attend the Clay Building workshop where students will learn three clay-building techniques; pinch, coil and slab construction that will be used for creating a group clay sculpture. The second group will attend the Redware Decorating workshop. This group will watch demonstrations on different techniques for decorating redware before trying it themselves. The third group will watch the Glass Blowing Demonstration in which a glass cup, bowl and ornament are created. Throughout the day, groups will rotate so all students experience each workshop.

The American Chestnut Project – Restoring a Native Species

Friday, April 13, 2012

Seminar Time: 9:00 AM – 1:30 PM

Location: LCC House Rock Nature Preserve

Presenters: Tom Stahl, Tim Eck, & Sara Fitzsimmons

Description: Students will be introduced to the historic importance of the American Chestnut and its' ecological value in the landscape. What happened to the American Chestnut, what is the impact of similar mass extinctions, and what is being done to restore the species? This SEE seminar will look at the American Chestnut with an historical, economic, and scientific perspective, and students will gain knowledge of the breeding program of the American Chestnut Foundation. The restoration efforts of the American Chestnut Foundation (ACF) present lessons in genetics, ecology, evolution, history and horticulture.

EAT Poetry – A Poetry Experience!

Tuesday, May 1, 2012

Seminar Time: 9:00 AM – 2:00 PM

Location: The Conference & Training Center at IU 13

Presenter: Mickie Singer

Description: "EAT POETRY" is a workshop unlike any poetry workshop you've encountered. The idea of "eating" is to literally ingest, completely taking into one's mind, heart and soul what will offer nourishment and growth. In this workshop, we will do just that...in a multitude of ways. Not only will we read poetry, but we will get right down into the middle of it, experiencing its cousins such as art and music too. You will need to bring a white t-shirt; a notebook or journal with a favorite pen; and a list of your favorite sounds and words. You are welcome to bring poems you've written, your favorite poetry books, and plenty of enthusiasm. You'll read, write and hear poetry. Keep in mind this is not actually a poetry writing workshop but a poetry experience workshop. Be prepared to be infused with a love and understanding of our connection to rhythms - inside ourselves, with each other and, most of all, with the universe.

COSI Electronic Education: Total Knee Replacement (Live Videoconference)

Wednesday, May 9, 2012

Seminar Time: 9:45 AM – 2:00 PM

Location: The Conference & Training Center at IU 13

Presenters: Center for Science and Industry (COSI)

Henry Hershey, Hershey Physical Therapy Service

Description: Students attending this workshop will see a live knee replacement surgery from start to finish via videoconference. Those participating will have a truly memorable and powerful learning experience by being able to ask questions and interact with surgeons and medical personnel in the operating room, while watching a live, ninety-minute operation. There will be an information guide to be handed that details the actual surgical procedure and possible associated careers. NOTE: Due to the nature of this seminar, it is not for the weak of stomach! Henry Hershey of Hershey Physical Therapy Service, accompanied by Physical Therapist Erica Gerlach, will follow the live video of a total knee replacement surgery with a presentation on Physical Therapy rehabilitation following knee joint replacement and/or ACL (anterior cruciate ligament) repair. Information regarding PT careers, opportunities, and pre-requisites will also be provided.

*Please note that transportation times are not included.
