

LANCASTER-LEBANON READING OLYMPICS

Team Formation

Overview:

Reading Olympics teams are composed of at least 8 and up to 12 students (Olympians). No more than 10 Olympians may participate during each round, with the remaining Olympians as alternate players. All Olympians should participate in at least two rounds.

*Please note that a Team Captain will need to be selected prior to the event. During each round, the team captain is responsible for giving the answer or designating a specific team member, by name, to answer the question. The team captain collaborates with other team members before giving an answer.

Many districts with higher interest than team space, have found hosting an "in house"/informal Reading Olympics prior to the IU event a good way to accommodate learners you may be unable to invite to the final event.
