Do you like exploring creeks, wetlands, or rivers? Do you like hiking and discovering wildlife in an outdoor environment? Do you like drawing, painting and writing about what you see in nature? If so, this summer enrichment experience is for you! Take a break from the summer heat and spend a few refreshing days with Lancaster County Park naturalist, Lisa J. Sanchez and IU13 staff members. Each day will be spent investigating and experiencing the science of water. By "jumping in", you will see the connection between water and the living organisms on our planet. You can touch the critters living in the water, dissect plants, learn how to keep our water clean, and use paints and natural dyes to document discoveries. When summer temperatures rise, water offers fun, cool refreshment, and awesome opportunities for scientific discovery.
